

Day 2 had something for everyone

Day Two of this year's Convention & Trade Show was informative, insightful and exciting. Once again, the agenda offered something for everyone.

This year's Trade Show featured 120 exhibitors, who offered services and products tailored to municipal governments of all sizes and complexities. The energy flowing from exhibitors and members in Halls B and C was truly remarkable!

The Building Respectful Municipal-Indigenous Relations session looked at what municipalities in Alberta are doing to build relationships with neighbouring Indigenous communities as well as Indigenous residents. While many member communities have taken steps to improve these relationships, more needs to be done to create meaningful connections with our First Nations, Inuit and Métis neighbours.

The Resolutions session, which featured over 25 resolutions, was exciting! We appreciate your engagement in this process. Reviewing resolutions in advance of Convention and being ready to participate in the debate and voting process makes for meaningful discussions. We are grateful to all those member communities that brought resolutions forward, as well as those who seconded them. The approved resolutions will help chart our future advocacy efforts.

Please let us know what you found most interesting, informative and useful this week by filling out our post-Convention survey. It only takes a few minutes to complete, and you'll help ensure future events meet or exceed delegates' expectations. ■

Step right up and ask your question!

Alberta Municipalities welcomes Premier Danielle Smith and many of her cabinet ministers to day three of the 2023 Convention & Trade Show.

This year, our Minister Dialogue Session will take place from 10:45 a.m., following the Premier's Address and Q & A period.

When the floor is open for questions, you will have 45 seconds in which to ask your question. If time runs out, your microphone will be cut off. To keep you on track, we will have a count down clock for you. ■
